PARENTING COURSES

Center for Developing Minds hosts online educational webinars throughout the year. Please join in our lively, interactive group sessions for parents and caregivers of children and adolescents with ADHD or anxiety. We also have a class for families who have a child that was recently diagnosed with autism, and a parent class that will help explain the importance of executive functions and how students can develop these skills. Each session will be facilitated by an experienced child and family therapist, educational specialist, or child development specialist.
