

Social Brains

Get Ready to Go Back to School

Join us for a fun-filled summer session that will give you and your child the confidence and tools needed to ease the transition back to school!

Social Brains is a group that allows children to practice skills such as building and developing their friendships and maintaining social interactions. Our groups incorporate developmentally appropriate activities and books to teach, practice, and generalize foundational social thinking skills.

The summer session will focus on preparing students to go back to school in the fall. The class will use concrete strategies to work on transitions, dealing with unexpected events, self-monitoring, and strategies to stay regulated and alert in a group setting. Students will practice with initiation, learning and playing in a group, perspective taking, and work on setting personal social goals.

If you are interested in enrolling your student, please contact the clinic staff who will get you in touch with an instructor. We work hard to design balanced groups; therefore, each child will be individually screened and placed into a group with a maximum of six participants. The class is held at the Center for Developing Minds. Course fee is $750 per session, which includes five classes, take-home materials and the end-of-session parent discussion that will be held during the last 30 minutes of the final day.

Instructors: Rachel Gilbert, M.A., Educational Specialist

Class Schedule: For students ages 8-12 years old: 12:30 pm - 2:00 pm.
